Reading	This week in Reading we are going to be making connections to a book. Please click the link below to listen to the story "The Night Before Summer Vacation" After you listen to the story please go to your Seesaw account. You will work on the activity labeled Reading 5/11. With this activity you will fill out the title of this story and the author. Then, you will circle the emoji that shows how the book made you feel and then type in why the book made you feel that way. Don't forget to submit it to your teacher. The Night Before Summer Vacation	Today in math, we will be continuing to practice "Fractions". To review, first watch the video lesson on Fractions. Once you have watched the video, you will log into your Seesaw account and complete 2 activities today for Tuesday 5/12. On the first activity, you will circle the pictures that show equal parts and you will write the fraction below each circle. The second activity is called "Fractions!". Be sure to read the directions carefully on both activities. Once you have completed both activities, submit them to your teachers. Fractions video lesson	Today in Reading we are going to continue making a connection to the book we are reading. You can click the link below to listen to the story "The Night Before Summer Vacation" again. Afterwards you will go into Seesaw and click the Reading 5/13 activity. In this activity you are going to type in a connection you have to the story. Something that the story reminds you of. Maybe it reminds you of a trip you took or maybe you remember packing up your car to go out of town. When you are done typing it in don't forget to submit it to your teacher. The Night Before Summer Vacation	Today in math, you will take an assessment on "Fractions". This is to see and show what you know and have learned on fractions. You may watch the video from Tuesday to review. After the video, complete the assessment on Seesaw and submit it to your teacher when it is completed. Make sure you take your time and read everything carefully on the assessment! Fractions video lesson	Today you are going to finish making a connection to our story "The Night Before Summer Vacation" by telling us what your favorite part of the story was. The link for the story is below if you need to listen to it again. Then in your Seesaw account you will click on the Reading 5/15 activity. Type in the name of our story and your favorite part of the story. Don't forget to submit it to your teacher. The Night Before Summer Vacation
